A DANGEROUS TUNNEL.

Phenomenal Eruptions and Com-motions in Hudson River.

The Big Bore Under the River Shaking Up Ocean Steamers—Fears That Heavy Vessels Will Break Through.

New York, June 27.—The works of the Hudson River Tunnel Company are located at the slip between Leroy and Morton streets, and the construction of the tunnel has advanced to such an extent that already it is nearly seventy-five feet outside the bulkhead wall. Here on one side of the slip lie the great vessels of the French Steamship Company, while on the other side are those of the Inman Line. Just as the submarine work had progressed to a point almost at the stern of one of the steamers of the French line, the water in the river was seen to suddenly rise, and

AN IMMENSE BODY of mud, stones and refuse was thrown into the air with a tremendous roar. People who were on the dock and near the spot at the moment were badly frightened. Mud and other material were scattered over the roof of the pier in large quantities. The occurrence was said to be a leak opening in the roof, but all below had secured the air shaft and made their escape. Another and more serious danger is threatening, and unless immediate precautions are taken the catastrophe expected may occur at any moment. It appears that since the work under the river has reached that part of the slip where the vessels of the French company lie the officers and crews of the steamers can distinctly

FEEL A VIBRATION OF THEIR STEAMER as if some powerful machinery were at work at the bottom of the river endeavoring to shiver their vessel to atoms. When the last ship left its wharf the Normandie, which arrived to take its place, could hardly enter the slip. Not only were the waters filled with strong swirling eddies, but the mud in the bed of the river was thrown up here and there in large quantities to such an extent that it became impossible for the great vessel to force its way into more than about half of the slip. What is now dreaded is that at any moment on the sailing day of the French company's vessels, another outburst of the river's bed may follow. In such a case all the people on deck will be covered and blinded by the downcoming tons of slimy mud and water, and as the vessel will be heavily laden with freight, the weight of the steamer, it is feared, may prove too much for the comparatively weak roof of the tunnel below to withstand. The top of the structure would therefore quickly cave in, and the consequences that must follow may be imagined. A reporter paid a visit to the French Steamship Company's pier at the foot of Morton street. At the time the reporter arrived there the steamship Normandie was lying at her berth. Around the stern of the vessel, which was toward the shore, and in the slip, the water in the river appeared as if boiling for a distance of some feet, likely at any moment to burst forth in an eruption. One of the employees of the steamship company who was near watching the reporter's astonishment at what he beheld, said: "It's not healthy to stand around near where that heavy bubbling and rolling of the river is, because any moment it's likely to go up, and then you would

SEE FUN AROUND HERE." "Is it dangerous?" ventured the scribe. "Well, it's getting to look more like it every day. There has been a blowing up around here four times already, and, although I have not been enough in the shower, from what I have seen I can tell you it's to be feared clear off. You see how that white water boils there? Well, right under the Normandie it's going on to such an extent that it raised all the bed of the river up like hills and the ship can't for a moment set right. When they had got as far as the new-made ground inside of the bulkhead with the tunnel, one night they had a big blow up. I was not here that night, but the next morning I was shown where the hills of mud were chucked up. It satisfied me there was some big power that could do something when it got loose down there. About two weeks ago I saw a send up right over on the other side of the slip, where the Inman dock is. Up went a dense black body as high as the dock roof, with

A ROAR LIKE AN ENGINE, and then spreading out, came down with great sprays of water, sending mud all around. It happened a leak in the tunnel had occurred, but, lucky enough, without any loss, except setting back operations about two weeks. For some time everything appears to be doing well, and they tell me they have advanced the tunnel in a few weeks more than they have for months at a time past. There are some hundred men down there now working in the compressed air, and I understand everything is going nicely. About five hundred more men will be sent down soon. But up here we are expecting a fearful hurst some day."

M. LOUIS DE MEDIAN, agent of the French Steamship Company, was seen at the company's office in Bowling Green. He said in speaking of the action of the Tunnel Company's work on the river: "It's getting worse there every day. The Normandie to-day lies out in the slip unable to get fully into her berth. Since last year it has cost us for keeping our ship dredged and through the accumulation of the mud hills formed by the action of the compressed air on the bed of the river $8,000. They City of Rome, of the Anchor Line, took two hours to get into her side of the slip the other day, and it looks next as if we would be kept out altogether. I have written to the Dock Commissioners about this thing and will look to them to keep the Tunnel Company from ruining the slip entirely. I am not so much annoyed about the eruption of the mud and water there as I am of the danger that I fear is impending. It must be remembered that our vessels are enormously heavy, and I am pretty sure they are

PAWNED PENSION PAPERS.

Government Officials Make a Raid on Philadelphia Pawnshops.

A Philadelphia, special says: The pawnbrokers of this city are excited over a novel raid made upon them by Detective Gray and George D. Mills, Special Agent of the Interior Department. The capture consists of 300 pension papers upon which money had been advanced to poverty-stricken old soldiers. This raid is the first of its kind ever made in this country, and it was instituted by direction of General Sickel, the chief of the Philadelphia Pension Office, in conformity with the regulations of a bill passed by Congress on the 28th of last February, that "any pledge, mortgage, sale, assignment, or transfer of any right, claim, or interest in any pension which had been or may hereafter be granted, shall be void and of no effect, and any person who shall pledge or receive as a pledge, mortgage, sale, assignment, or transfer of any right, claim, or interest in any pension or pension certificate which has been or may hereafter be granted or issued, or who shall hold the same as collateral security for any debt of promise, or upon any pretext of such security or promise, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $100 and the costs of prosecution. Any person who shall retain the certificate of a pensioner and refuse to surrender the same upon the demand of the commissioner of pensions, or any other person authorized by the commissioner of pensions or the pensioner to receive the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not to exceed $100 and the cost of prosecution."

"I tell you," said Special Agent Mills to a reporter, "we had an awful lot of trouble in getting some of these papers. The pawnbrokers kicked like everything. They cried and howled for the money they had advanced upon them, and wanted to know how they were to recompense their loss. I told them that I didn't know; that my business was simply to take the papers, and when they appeared unusually snubbed I showed them the law. When they declared that they had no pension papers, and I imagined that they were lying, I made them produce their books. I visited every pawnshop in the city, nearly eighty in all."

Some of the pawnbrokers had accumulated a large number of papers. Mr. Mills recovered from Drehr & Schofield seventy-five papers, upon which the firm assured the detectives, with tears in their eyes, they had advanced about $500. Tears and protestations were of no avail, and Mr. Mills quietly pocketed the documents and passed on to the shop of S. Nathan, where, after protracted search, only two papers were found. Jacob Salgar was fortunate in having accumulated only one pension paper, which promptly went to swell the collection in Gray's coat-tail pocket.

The chief clerk said in conversation that there are in all the eastern districts of Pennsylvania about twenty thousand pension papers outstanding, of which number 7,000 are held in this city. Mr. Mills, speaking up, said: "The pawnbrokers are not the only persons by whom the papers have been held. A large number have been left with the proprietors of gin-mills, the pensioners in return 'hanging up' their drinks. We cannot reach this class except by lying in wait for them on pay-days."

The Chief Clerk of the Pension Office at Washington, J. W. Howells, held a conference with General Sickel before the raid was made. The value of the papers recovered aggregated about $7,000. A good proportion has been granted to widows, who have probably pawned them to keep warm from the door. It is the intention of the Interior Department to extend this raid to other cities and States. The raid will shortly be made throughout the entire State.

1,000-Mile Tickets for the Press.

TOLEDO, O., June 27.—The Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad has decided to abolish its present system of passes and issue 1,000-mile ticket passes to the press, to which the holder has to append his signature whenever used. In speaking of the matter Manager Sanderson said that he had sent out in a private way the following circular:

To the Editor of —. DEAR SIR: It has been decided by the present management to cancel all advertising contracts now outstanding, and recall press tickets held in consideration of the same. Please return press ticket No. —, as now held by you, and consider our contract cancelled.

Prompt attention to the above will much oblige. Mr. Sanderson claims as his reason for so doing, that the fact has transpired that country editors have not only been abusing the road, but have been abusing their privileges, giving their passes to A B and C to use as they pleased. It is proposed, therefore, to call in all the passes, and correct the abuse of privileges by not re-issuing any new passes to those who have made improper use of those issued.

THE WESTERN FLOODS.

The Worst of the Damage Now Thought to be Past.

St. Louis, Mo., June 27.—Advices from Chester, Randolph county, Ill., say that St. Mary's Levee, opposite that point, in Missouri, broke Sunday night, and the St. Mary's Bottom, a large wheat raising region, is now nearly all flooded. It is said that 20,000 acres of wheat are under water in this bottom alone. From Chester to Grand Tower southward, on the Illinois side, a distance of twenty-five miles, embracing an area of 250 miles, nearly all is submerged and the crops destroyed, entailing great loss. To the north of Chester, nearly all the way up to St. Louis, the bottom is said to be inundated, except here and there a high ridge which is out of water.

The information from all this region is of a general, rather than a specific character, but it is safe to say that if these bottoms are deluged as stated, thousands of families are either living in flooded houses or have fled to the bluffs for safety, and that the loss to crops and general farm property is almost incalculable. The American bottom extends from Alten to Cairo, something over 200 miles, a large part of which is pretty thickly settled. All the great tract is subject to overflow in freshets like the present, and it can be readily imagined that the loss of property and the distress and misery brought upon the inhabitants must be immense. The town of St. Mary's, on the Missouri side of the river, is partly submerged, and Kaskaskia, on the Illinois side, is to be abandoned, the people there having sent to Chester for a steamboat to carry them away.

A levee three miles above Cape Girardeau, Mo., about fifty miles above Cairo, and another at Price's landing, twenty-five miles further down the river, broke Sunday night and let a large volume of water rush over the bottom. Other points on both sides of the river below here, particularly on the Illinois side, are in about the same condition as above described, and it may be said that pretty much all the bottom land between here and Cairo has more or less water on it.

The river actually fell one inch yesterday, and there is general rejoicing on both sides of the stream. Everybody looks for a pretty rapid decline of the water, and all have strong hopes that it will go down far enough before the June rise comes to escape another extreme freshet.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 27.—The river rose about three inches in the forenoon, and remained nearly stationary.

St. JOSEPH, Mo., June 27.—The river this afternoon is receding slowly. Reports from above state that the Platte and "River One Hundred and Two" are rising rapidly again and inundating the bottom lands, but it is thought the rise will not last long.

ARCHER, KAN., June 27.—The river here is about on a stand, the rise to-day being hardly perceptible. The Platte and Nemaha rivers are falling. Judges estimate the damage done to all the roads centering at this city will reach $500,000.

Gresham's Guffintine.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Within a short time it is probable that some important official changes will be made in the Post-office Department by Postmaster General Gresham. He has been in office long enough to at least think he has obtained a fair knowledge of the character, ability, judgment, and qualifications of his subordinates, and also to have gathered an intelligent idea of the nature and requirements of the duties performed by each one. There are some indications that he has about reached the conclusion that some transfers, and possibly some removals, are necessary, and that a redistribution of the duties assigned to certain officers will be wise. The statement has been published that the contract for Star route service on the Niobrara route was awarded to Miner after General Gresham entered upon the duties of his office. This is an error. The contract was awarded April 4, when Mr. Hutton was acting Postmaster General. General Gresham took charge of the department April 11. In regard to the Niobrara contract, it is further said that the second assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Elmer, will probably recommend that no service be put on the route. General Gresham this week has given the matter of carrying newspapers by mail considerable attention. He has in part satisfied himself that heretofore carelessness has existed to some extent in postoffices in regard to newspapers. The Postmaster General is determined that newspapers shall be held as sacred through the mails as letters, and with that end in view, will promulgate strict rules and insist on their observance. There are whispers of coming changes in the postoffice department. First Assistant Postmaster General Hutton is reported to be in danger.

Dismissed Detectives.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—For the first time since the Guiteau trial District Attorney Corkhill will now be afforded an opportunity to prosecute an important United States case. This will be the trial of the members of the detective corps of the Metropolitan Police, who are accused of having condoned for pecuniary consideration burglaries and other crimes in the District of Columbia, and, in some instances, with having incited criminal work. One of the first acts of the new Chief of Police when he came into office a few months ago was to discharge all the detectives he found at Headquarters, and detailed policemen in their stead. As a result of the change burglaries and pocket-picking cases have been very few, and thieves have decided that the climate of Washington is not congenial for their class. A systematic course of robbery and pillage with it, it is claimed, be proven against the ex-detectives at the trial, and numerous indictments are pending against them. Several of their henchmen have turned State's evidence before the Citizens' Committee, which instituted the work of getting rid of the former detective corps, and an interesting but short trial is promised by Colonel Corkhill.

STRICKEN ALEXANDRIA.

Fleeing From the City to Escape Cholera.

CAIRO, EGYPT, June 27.—All foreigners are leaving Alexandria on account of the cholera. The Government had early advised of the epidemic, and while it took such steps as it could in its slow way to help matters, it took very strong measures to prevent the public from getting any information. The foreign physicians whose services can be depended on are few, and many who could go are not able to do so without losing their practice. Not a word of information about the epidemic can be got from the few doctors remaining. They refuse even to make a report of the number of deaths except to the authorities. All that is known is that the ill are dying rapidly, and that the well are flying, so greatly excited that their stories can not be but exaggerated, for if true there would be none left alive.

Notwithstanding the great difficulty experienced in obtaining reliable information, it has been definitely ascertained that there were forty-seven cases and thirty-seven deaths from cholera at Dmietta yesterday. The disease is also rapidly becoming epidemic at Madsura. Reports from that point state that seven persons were stricken and that two deaths occurred on the same day.

WONG CHING FOO.

The Liberty of the Press Receives a Vindication.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Wong Ching Foo, the publisher and editor of the Chinese-American, has been for several days a guest in "Hotel de Ludlow" in default of $5,000 bail. It will be remembered that the cause of his enforced absence from his editorial sanctum and his modest home in Mott street was the allegation of Chan Pond Topp that he had libelled him and brought his good name and fame into disrepute. The editor walked into court in company with a Deputy Sheriff. He was conspicuous only for his Mongolian complexion and features, the absence of a cue and the presence of "ignominious pantaloons" upon his limbs. He was too modest to make himself conspicuous by entering the Court where his personal liberty was at stake, and contented himself by walking up and down the marble halls of the court-house extracting smoke from a fragrant cigar. He was not long in suspense, while Counselor Rosebault was pleading his case before Judge Donohue, of the Supreme Court. The result of the plea was that the Judge reduced the bail to $500, which the editor gave to the satisfaction of Sheriff Davidson, and was released, with a kindly shake and congratulations by the officers of the law.

The plaintiff asserted in his affidavit on which the order of arrest was granted that he was peculiarly injured to the amount of $25,000. The accused editor asserts that his accuser was not injured to the amount of a "Melican" cent.

Dropping Forty Feet, Swimming a River and Escaping to the Woods.

BOSTON, June 27.—Detectives have been several weeks at work endeavoring to discover the cause of the disappearance of large quantities of gold from the works of the American Optical Company. On Friday they arrested in Southbridge Frank Olds, Daniel Holden, John Lorange and Lewis Shaw, charging the larceny of Olds as principal and on the others as accessories in receiving the property. They have admitted their connection with the crime, and all except one have been held for examination. Olds, who has been a respected citizen of Southbridge, has had charge of the valuable stock of the company, and it is alleged that he has been abstracting gold by the use of duplicate sets of scales, expressly fixed for the work. It is claimed that he has been in the habit of letting himself into the stock room, to which he had a key, and while supposed to be at dinner he was fixing the scales. Olds made a confession to the detectives and to the officials of the company. He was left in charge of an employee in an upper room, and he dropped through a window forty feet to the ground, swam the river, and made his escape to the woods.

Internal Revenue Statement.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The aggregate Internal Revenue receipts during May, 1883, were $346,818 greater than for the same month in 1882. There was an increase of $281,729 from spirits, an increase of $220,527 from tobacco, an increase of $107,803 from beer, and a decrease of $81,049 from banks and hankers, and a decrease of $188,762 from miscellaneous.

In the taxation of tobacco there was an increase of $119,900 on cigars, a decrease of $31,020 on cigarettes, an increase of $17,531 on snuff, an increase of $815,809 on chewing and smoking tobacco, a decrease of $525,762 from dealers in manufactured tobacco, and a decrease of $67,039 from all other sources.

A comparative statement of collections of internal revenue during the first eleven months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1882 and 1883, shows the following: Total receipts from spirits, 1882, $34,514,092; 1883, $38,832,655. Increase, $4,318,563. From tobacco, 1882, $43,450,981; 1883, $39,762,075. Decrease, $3,688,906.

Indiana's Ship Canal.

LAFAYETTE, IND., June 27.—A ship canal from the lakes to the Wabash river is a project much agitated here now, and the next Congress is to be petitioned for its aid. The plan is to make the Wabash navigable from the Ohio to Lafayette, and build a ship canal from Lafayette to Lake Erie, thus connecting the great lakes with the Ohio and the Gulf. The scheme, if perfected, would give cheap rates to the east for western exports. The exorbitant railroad rates have lately given the project a bloom.

THE CROP PROSPECTS.

Corn Somewhat Backward, With a Poor Outlook for a Good Crop—Oats Promising and in Fairly Active Demand.

MILWAUKEE, June 27.—Reports from all parts of the West and Northwest are to the effect that the weather during the week has continued unsettled, with much rain falling over a considerable area. The growth of wheat and of all spring-sown grain is very luxuriant and their present appearance is promising. It is stated, however, that the growth of the stalk is very rank and full of moisture, and it is now evident that a continuation of so much rain will prove detrimental to crops.

There has been no material change in the tone and character of reports in regard to the condition and prospects of winter wheat. Something of an exception to this statement is found in the case of Michigan. Reports from that State indicate a decided improvement in some localities.

Throughout Wisconsin and many other portions of the Northwest the late season for planting, followed by continued heavy rains, has resulted in a backward condition of corn. The plant is small and growing very slowly and the prospect for the crop is poor. In the regular corn belt, however, the prospect is better and the outlook for the crop is fair. Receipts of corn in Western and Northwestern markets have fallen off and the indications are that there will be a steady supply for the next few weeks on about the present basis. The shipping demand has been active and has decreased stocks in store at the lake ports, leaving them now at a very moderate point. The visible supply of corn in the country has increased 305,000 bushels.

The outlook for the oat crop is excellent. The supply at all trading points has been well maintained, and even with a fairly active shipping demand Western stocks have increased somewhat. Productive supplies from now until the new crop shall move are uncertain, depending on the balance remaining in farmers' hands, which some authorities now claim is very small.

Reports concerning the prospects of the barley crop continue good from all directions. The movement of barley continues to be on a limited scale, and there is but little interest in the trade. A new feature will be added to the barley market by reports from California, to the effect that there will be no active competition in offerings from the Pacific slope during the coming year, stimulated by good crops and moderate prices there.

Some increased activity in the provision market is reported. Receipts of hogs continue to be on a fair scale. It is a most noteworthy fact that provisions have stood up under the McGeech failure much better than when. This is accounted for by the fact that P. D. Armour, the great pork packer, has shouldered the provision market.

Recognizing Their Obligations.

CINCINNATI, June 27.—The saloon-keepers have made this a lively day for the treasury clerks. All day they have been settling their Scott law obligations, and, in most cases, the tax was paid good-humoredly. It is generally believed that the brewing companies are furnishing the larger share of the money to pay the tax for the small saloons, taking as security an ironclad obligation that whichever brewer furnishes the money will secure the trade in that special case. Competition is lively among the brewers as to which will secure the largest share of these obligations from responsible saloon-keepers, and the result is that but few saloons in this city will be closed through inability of the keeper to raise the tax. One of the conditions exacted by the brewers is, that no "cheap beer" shall be sold—five cents a glass must be charged. Eventually a way will probably be found to reimburse the brewers for the tax, in diminished glasses or higher prices. The receipts in Cincinnati from the Scott tax will reach about $440,000—the price of 8,000,000 glasses of beer. The receipts to-day were $78,000.

Colored Politicians Moving.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 27.—About thirty colored men of this city and State have signed a call for a convention to be held at Columbia on the 18th of July next, the purpose of the convention being to elect twenty-five delegates to the National Colored Convention. The signers of the call are all old politicians and nearly all now hold government positions either in the postoffice, Custom-house or internal revenue service. Among other things the call states that "a discussion of the status of the negro in America would best secure the rights denied and redress the wrongs which have been perpetrated upon us as a people."

Preparing for Almost Certain Death.

NANTASKET BEACH, MASS., June 27.—Captain Matthew Webb, the swimmer, who is to go through the whirlpool rapids at Niagara Falls for $10,000, is training for the perilous feat at Nantasket Beach, Mass. He has selected this place on account of the breakers, which are rough enough to afford him the practice he deems necessary for a safe passage through the terrible rapids. Previous to exercise in the water each day the Captain anoints his body with a soft lubricating oil, and on retiring, he takes a warm sponge bath. He avoids all stimulants and partakes only of simple, nutritious food.

Selecting a Horse.
The Turf, Field and Farm, than which there is no better authority on the subject, says that "in buying a horse, first look at his head and eyes for signs of intelligence, temper, courage, and honesty. Unless a horse has brains, you cannot teach him to do anything well. If bad qualities predominate in a horse, education only serves to enlarge and intensify them. The head is the indicator of disposition. A square muzzle, with large nostrils, evidences an ample breathing apparatus and lung power. Next, see that he is well under the jaw, with jawbones broad and wide apart under the throatle. Breadth and fullness between the ears and eyes are always desirable. The eyes should be full and hazel in color, ears small and thin and thrown well forward. The horse that turns his ears back every now and then is not to be trusted. He is either a blier or a kicker, and is sure to be vicious in other respects, and, being naturally vicious, can never be trained to do anything well, and so a horse with a rounding nose, tapering forehead, and a broad, full face below the eyes is always treacherous and not to be depended on. Avoid the long-legged, stilted animal—always choosing one with a short, straight back and rump, withers high and shoulders sloping, well set back, and with good depth of chest, fore legs short, hind legs straight, with low down hock, short pastern joints, and a round, mulish-shaped foot."

Medium sized hats or bonnets are more worn than very large or very small ones. An inside waist of the same shade should always be worn under every Jersey. Skirts trimmed with lace, put on in half moon shapes, will be very fashionable.

The City of New Orleans has temporarily triumphed over Myra Clark Gaines, who has a judgment against the municipality for $2,000,000. U. S. Judge Billings has yielded to the pressure, and refused to take action on the mandamus. The case will now have to go to the Supreme Court. There can be no decision for three years.

Worse and More of It.
PORTLAND, OREGON, June 27.—Special advices give fuller particulars of the collision on the Northern Pacific, at Heron Station. The gravel train of fifteen cars was run into by the construction train. George Pike, engineer of the gravel train, and twenty-three Chinamen were killed, and fifteen wounded. The accident was the result of gross carelessness.

An Oil Strike in Missouri.
RICHLAND, June 27.—The Foote & Beumont well, at a depth of 600 feet, has struck a heavy vein of petroleum. Other wells will be at once sunk, tanks erected, and refineries established. The oil is pronounced by an expert to be equal to the finest petroleum in Pennsylvania.

The Chicago Foot.
Chicago Tribune.

Young Smith called on Miss Higginbottom a few nights ago, and got very wet on his way to the young lady's residence. After he arrived nothing would do but she must make a fire for him, and, in spite of his protestations, she soon had a roaring fire started.

Drawing near it, Mr. Smith poised one foot on the other in front of the blaze. For some moments not a word was spoken.

Presently the young lady gently remarked: "Mr. Smith, please take down the blower; I think the fire has a good start." Down came the foot, and Smith doesn't go there any more.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 28, 1883.

When e'er a vacancy occurs
And store folks want to let it,
A single word is all they need
And hundreds rush to get it.
But when the sturdy blacksmith men
For workmen advertise,
In all this great big city full,
There's not a soul applies.

Notice to Subscribers.

The delivery of the DAILY BULLETIN, in Maysville, beginning July 1st, will be entrusted to Mr. William Austin, who will see that its patrons are promptly served with the paper. The subscription price will be considered due each week and will be collected by him every Monday afternoon.

Trade in Maysville is looking up.

Honey is selling in this city at 12 1/2 cents a pound.

The mercury stood at sixty-five degrees this morning.

The fair at Mt. Sterling begins July 31, and continues three days.

The postoffice under the new management will open to the public on Monday.

The electric light can be seen at the Knitting Factory to-night from 8 to 9 p. m.

The ice factory will be located on Wall street opposite Wormald's coal scales.

The blackberry crop in this neighborhood promises to be unusually good and abundant.

Scarlet fever is said to be raging to an alarming extent in the vicinity of Brooksville.

There is some talk of reviving the Maysville Manufacturing Association. The present time is considered favorable for its organization.

The match game of base ball that was to have been played to-day, at Lexington, by a club from that place and a nine from this city has been postponed until July 3rd.

The Water Company is laying a three inch main from the bend in the Lexington turnpike on Third street to Mr. Walter Blatterman's building near the Armstrong school house.

We are informed that one of our public spirited business men has offered to give fifty acres of land in the suburbs of Maysville to the Kentucky Central in the event of the removal of the machine shops to this city.

A moonlight fete on the river has been proposed as a proper way for celebrating the Glorious Fourth. A fleet of boats with Chinese lanterns, music, and a restaurant barge are suggested as part of the arrangements.

I offer for sale my book and stationery business, stock fixtures and all complete. This is a rapidly increasing and profitable business and is a rare chance for any one. For terms and reasons for selling apply to FRANK R. PRISTER.

On Friday evening near Lewisburg, a horse attached to a buggy in which were Mrs. T. K. Wood and her brother, Mr. O. B. Thomas, was frightened by a passing train and upset the vehicle. Mrs. Wood and Mr. Thomas were both severely hurt.

The stock in the Electric Light Company ought to be taken readily. The enterprise is one that promises to be successful and ought to meet with prompt encouragement. The light furnished by the company is the best, and will be found reasonable in cost.

We have received a polite note from the Pickert ice machine men, who are now in the city, in which they deny, as charged by the BULLETIN's owl, that they brought this cool weather with them. They say their feelings for Maysville and her people would be expressed by a much higher temperature.

At a meeting of the I. O. W. M., held June 27th, 1883, the following officers were elected for the ensuing six months: Past President—Wm. E. Stallcup. President—J. H. Smart. Vice President—P. W. The Limestone Flour Mills resumed work this week with new machinery and all late appliances for making flour of the best grades. The products will be improved from this time on, if that is possible. In the course of about a week it will be necessary to run the machinery night and day to supply the demand for the brands of flour made at these mills.

PERSONALS.

Capt. Harvey Redden has returned from Colorado.

Major Thomas A. Ross, we regret to say, is very sick.

Rev. H. B. Taylor and family will leave to-day to visit friends at Falmouth, Ky.

Mr. W. D. Cropper, formerly of Vanceburg, died a few days ago at Portsmouth, Ohio.

Col. J. Q. Chenoweth, of Bonham, Texas, is the guest of his brother, Major T. J. Chenoweth.

Mrs. A. Wall and sister, of Georgetown, Ohio, have returned home after a pleasant visit to the Misses Hiatt, of East Maysville.

Aunt Ann Owens, a well-known and respected old colored woman, at Ewing Station, is very ill and not expected to live through to-day.

Mr. S. P. Peck, formerly of Mason county, but now of Kansas, has been called home to attend to attend the bedside of his sick brother.

What are needed in Maysville more than anything else are comfortable homes for people who are able to pay only a small rent. This class is numerous here, and many of them are compelled to live in tenements that are little better than dog-kennels, while others are from necessity forced to take houses for which they are often unable to pay the rent. This is very much to the discredit of Maysville, and as long as it continues to be the case we cannot expect to any great extent to add to the working element of the population. It is to the interest of the city that this class of people should come here, and many would doubtless do so, if they could find decent houses to live in. A number of dwellings that could be rented at from $5 to $10 a month ought to be put up and we are very certain they would be taken immediately by desirable tenants. There is at present a great demand for cheap houses and capitalists will find in this fact a good investment for their surplus money.

OFFICER BROWNING arrived from Covington, last night, having in custody E. H. McPherson, who is charged with having obtained money under false pretenses, at Shannon, in this county, by selling Messrs. Cole and Watson the right to a patent washing machine that had previously been sold to another party. McPherson was captured at Cincinnati by the police of that city, and was delivered to officer Browning at Covington yesterday. The prisoner had his examining trial last night before Justices Viero and Grant, and was held to appear for further trial this afternoon in the sum of $500, which he was not able to give and was committed to jail. Marshall Browning is entitled to credit for his energy in the pursuit and capture of this offender.

Assassination at Myers' Station.
This morning about six o'clock at Myers' Station, Dr. John Robbins was waylaid and shot by John Smart, his brother-in-law. The weapon used was a double-barreled shot gun. Dr. Robbins is supposed to be fatally injured. The deed is believed to have been the result of the revelations concerning Robbins' wife made at Carlisle some months ago. Dr. Robbins, it will be remembered, charged Smart with having had illicit relations with his wife, who is Smart's sister.

Cherry Pudding.
Make crust as for baking powder biscuit; roll it out till it is about two-thirds of an inch thick. Stew enough cherries so that when they are spread on the crust they will cover it and be deep enough to make a good layer of fruit; roll the crust up then, taking care to keep the cherries from falling off. Wrap a cloth around it; sew it loosely with a coarse thread, which is easily pulled out. Allow plenty of room for the crust to rise. Lay this on a plate and set it in a steamer. Steam it for an hour and a half.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla operates radically upon and through the blood, and is a safe, reliable, and absolute cure for the various diseases, complaints and disorders due to debility, or to any constitutional taint or infection.

THE BAD BOY.

His Experiences in the Poultry Line.

Peck's Sun.

"Why don't you take an ice pick and clean the dirt out from under your finger nails, said the grocery man to the bad boy, as he came in the store and stroked the cat the wrong way, as he lay in the sun on the counter, on a quire of manilla paper.

"Can't remove the dirt for thirty days. It is an emblem of mourning. Had a funeral at our house yesterday," and the boy took a pickle out of a tub and put it in the cat's mouth, and shut her teeth together on it, and then went to the show case, while the grocery man, whose back had been turned during the pickle exercise, thought by the way the cat jumped into the dried apple barrel and began to paw and scratch with all four of her feet, and yowl, that she was going to have a fit.

"I hadn't heard about it said the grocery man, as he took the cat by the neck and tossed her out in the back shed into an old oyster box full of saw dust, with a parting injunction that if she was going to have fits she had better go out where there was plenty of fresh air. "Death is always a sad thing to contemplate. One day we are full of health, and joy, and cold victuals, and the next we are screwed down in a box, a few words are said over our remains, a few tears are shed, and there is a race to see who shall get back from the cemetery first, and though we may think we are an important factor in the world's progress, and sometimes feel as though it would be unable to put up margins and have to stop the dead, the world goes right along, and it must annoy people who die, to realize that they don't count for game. The greatest man in the world is only a nine spot when he is dead, because somebody else takes the tricks the dead man ought to have taken. But, say, who is dead at your house?"

"Our rooster. Take care, don't you hit me with that envioused ham," said the boy as the grocery man looked mad to learn that there was nobody dead but a rooster, when he had preached such a sermon on the subject. "Yes, how soon we are forgotten when we are gone. Now, you would have thought that rooster's hen would have remained faithful to him for a week at least. I've watched them all the spring, and I never saw a more perfect picture of devotion than that between the bunam rooster and his hen. They were constantly together, and there was nothing too good for her. He would dig up angle worms and eat them, and when she came up on a gallop and saw the great big worm on the ground, she would look so proud of her rooster, and would straighten up and look as though he was saying to her, 'I'm a daisy,' and then she would look at him, and if she would like to bite him, and just as she was going to pick up the worm he would snatch it and swallow it himself, and chuckle and walk around and be full of business, as though wondering why she didn't take the worm after he had dug it for her, and then the hen would look disappointed at first, and then she would look resigned, as much as to say, 'Worms are too rich for my blood anyway, and the poor dear rooster needs them more than I do, because he has to do all the crowing,' and she would go off and find a grasshopper and eat it in the sky for fear he would see her and complain because she didn't divide. O, I have never seen anything that seemed to me so human as the relations between that rooster and hen. He seemed to try to do everything for her. He seemed to make her stop cackling when she laid an egg, and he would try to chuckle and crow over it as though he had laid it, and she would get off in a corner and cluck in a modest, retiring manner, as though she wished to convey the idea to the servant girls in the kitchen that the rooster had to do all the hard work and she was only a useless appendage, fit only for society and company for him, but I was disgusted with him when the poor hen was setting. The first week that she sat on the eggs he seemed to get along first rate, because he had couple of flower beds to dig up, which a press of business had caused him to neglect before, and a couple of neighbor's gardens to destroy, so he seemed to be glad to have his hen retire to her boudoir and set, but after he had been shooed out of the gardens and flower beds he seemed to be nervous, and evidently wanted to be petted, and he would go near the hen and she would seem to tell him to go and take a walk around the block, because she hadn't time to leave her business, and if she didn't attend to it they would have a lot of spoiled eggs on their hand, and no family to bring up. He would scold, and seem to tell her that it was all foolishness, that for his part he didn't want to hear a lot of chickens squawking around. He would seem to argue with her that a brood of chickens would be a dead giveaway on them both, and they would at once be classed as old folks, while if they were alone in the world they would be spring chickens, and could go in young society, but the hen would scold back, and tell him that he ought to be ashamed of himself to talk that way, and he would go off mad, and sulk around a spell, and then go to a neighbor's hen-house and sometimes he wouldn't come back till the next day. The hen would be sorry she had spoken so cross, and would seem pained at his going away and would look anxiously for his return, and when he came back after being out in the grain all night, she would be solicitous after his health, and tell him he ought to wrap something around him, but he acted as though he didn't care for his health and he would go out again and get chilled through. Finally the hen come off the nest with ten chickens, and the rooster seemed very proud, and when anybody came out to look at them he would crow, and seem to say they were all his chickens, though the hen was a long time hatching them, and if it had been him that was setting on them he could have hatched them out in a week, or died a trying. But the exposure told on him, and he went into a decline, and one morning we found him dead. Do you know, I never see a hen that seemed to realize a calamity as she did. She looked pale, and her eyes looked red, and she seemed to be utterly crushed. If the chickens, which were so young they could not realize that they were orphans, became noisy, and got to pulling and hauling over a worm, and conducted themselves in an unseemly manner, she would talk to them in hen language, with tears in her eyes, and it was a picture of woe. But the next day a neighboring rooster got to looking through the fence from the alley, and trying to flirt with her. At first she was indignant, and seemed to tell him he ought to go about his business, and leave her alone, but the dude kept clucking, and pretty soon the widowed hen edged up towards the fence, and asked him to come in, but the hole in the fence was too small for him, and then the chickens went out in the alley, and the hen followed them out. I shall always think she told the chickens to go out so she would have an excuse to go after them, and flirt with the rooster, and I think it is a perfect shame. She is out in the alley half the time, and I could cuff her. It seems to me wrong to so soon forget a deceased rooster, but I suppose a hen can't be any more than human. Say, you don't want to buy a good dead rooster, do you? You could pick it and sell it to somebody that owes you, for a spring chicken."

"No, I don't want any deceased poultry, that died of grief, and you better go home and watch your hen, or you will be bereaved some more," and the grocery man went out in the shed to see if the cat was over its fit, and when he came back the boy was gone, and after a while the grocery man saw a crowd in front of the store and he went out and found the dead rooster lying on the vegetable stand, with a paper pinned on its breast on which was a sign, "This ruler died of colic. For sale cheap to boarding house only." He took the dead rooster and threw it out in the street, and looked up and down the street for the bad boy, and went in and hid a raw hide where he could reach it handy.

A Deliberate Texas Lynching.
JEFFERSON, TEXAS, June 27.—Lacey, one of the negroes guilty of outraging Mrs. Rogers near Lasater a few days ago, was lynched on the bridge this morning. He fully confessed. A buggy was driven from under him causing a fall. Five hundred people, including a number of women and negroes, were present. No secret was made of the intended hanging, general notice being given of the exact hour. It was first decided to burn him, as was done in a previous case in the same vicinity some time ago, but it being recollected that the law provides hanging as the penalty for rape, it was finally determined to follow that course. Of the three negroes concerned, Lacey and Sullivan were captured by the citizens. Sullivan is thought to be innocent, and will probably be released. Douglass was arrested by the officers and is still in jail, but may be lynched to-night.

A Noted Bank Thief Caught.
NEW YORK, June 27.—Charles Rogers, alias Butte Minor, alias "Pence," a noted bank thief, is prisoner at police headquarters, having been arrested last night. Rogers is one of the most notorious bank sneaks in the country. He generally travels with three or four thieves as companions and is said to own considerable property in this city, the result of his thefts. His profession has mostly been carried on in the Eastern States.

The Yellow Fever at Vera Cruz.
GALVESTON, TEX., June 27.—It is learned that the estimated death rate of fifteen per day at Vera Cruz from yellow fever is exceedingly cautious. It is probable the correct figure is even higher than the one given. The fever is of a particularly fatal type, the percentage of deaths among the unfortunate stricken with the disease being much greater than usual. Out of every seven who take the infection fully six die.

What General Wallace Has Accomplished.
CONSTANTINOPLE, June 27.—In consequence of the energetic protest made by General Wallace, the American Minister, in the case of two American missionaries who were nearly killed by the Kurds near Bitlis, the Governor of Erzeroum has been ordered to suppress brigandage at any cost.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

Mr. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBANKS, leader of the celebrated "Fairbank Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give every evidence of the change which fleeting time procures, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

Mrs. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charleston, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the Vigor, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.
